- 1. On 31 August 1950 and 1 September 1950 the Weustrelitz (N 5h/U 5h) barracks installation on the road to Pentlin was occupied to capacity by 2,000 to 2,500 troops who were red-berdered black epaulets, some with tank insignia. Tanks were seen in two garages in the southern section of the billeting area. Four sheds in the northern section of the area were used as temporary garages for tanks and motor vehicles. The area in front of the sheds was marked by tracks of tanks and motor vehicles. Trucks were identified in the billeting area.
- 2. Six to seven hundred troops were quartered in the cantonment at the northern exit of Neutrolitz east of the road to Neutrandenburg. The camp consists of six two-stery EM quarters, each about 6x30 meters and capable of quartering about 600 troops, an administration building, a storage building and a filling station. Gate guards were red-bordered black epaulets. No training activity or motor traffic was observed.
- 3. Soviet troops were seen in the former Marinesiedlung on Altstrelitzer-strasse on the southeastern edge of the city. The settlement consists of eight three-story buildings, each with a capacity of about 150 men, and two temporary garages for about 12 trucks each. Only one story of the buildings was occupied. The garages were filled with motor vehicles but no motor vehicle traffic was observed. An NCO and six MM were seen at AT gun drill near the garages. Sentries were red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia.
- It. The EM quarters in the restricted area of Schlosspark seemed to be occupied to capacity. Suards at the entrance of the area were red-bordered black epaulots. Local residents said that sheds used as temporary garages were also in the area.
- 5. On 1 and 2 September 1950 the Panzer Kaserne on the road to Penzlin was occupied by tank and artillery troops. At least 2,000 troops were seen at combat training and practice firing in the training area north of the installation. Fourteen T-3h and JS-tanks, including the T-3h tank and JS-tank nade a
